DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (If known) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The house is built in two sections. The southern section is 1 1/2 stories, the northern section is two stories. There are two, two story wings to the west, one frame and one stone and frame. Each of these four sections sits on a separate foundation.

On the north end of the main section is a large external stone chimney with a brick stack; on the east end of the frame addition is a second stone chimney with brick stack.

On the main (east) front, the north section is one bay wide with a window opening on each floor; the south section is three bays with an off-center entrance and two dormer windows cutting through the eaves. The door has a four-light transom; the windows are all 6/6 double hung sash. Across the three bays of the south section is a one story porch with turned posts of recent construction.

The eaves are boxed on all sections of the house.

There is a stone mounting block in front of the house.

There are several outbuildings including a log cabin and a frame springhouse on a stone foundation (deteriorating). There is also a barn with hand hewn and pegged framing members. On one barn are carved "JHC Born Sept. the 18th 1888" and "JWL Born Jan the 8 1888" [sic].
